

Discovering career paths beyond academia

TARGET GROUP	Postdocs
TARGET	You are thinking about a career path beyond academia? You wonder what steps to take first? You feel stuck and don't know on what basis you can make such a far-reaching decision? In this workshop, you will first establish that very basis: your strengths and aptitudes, your interests, personality and motivation. Also, you will identify and begin to explore professional occupations outside of academia. You will test their attractiveness and try out job finding strategies. How? By using ideas from design thinking, doing psychological tests, self- and group-reflecting on your previous experience, asking questions, and expanding your network.
TOPICS	Your long-term goal is to find an occupation that offers the highest possible match between your personal aptitudes, needs and motivations and the job's requirements and opportunities. The goal of this workshop is to equip you with the knowledge, skills and mindset that can make this journey exciting and successful. After this workshop, you will be able to choose from the most promising strategies of finding a job that matches your skills and interests. You will know about useful methods of self-reflection and how to make the most of them. Finally, you will have a wider horizon of possible and appealing job opportunities.
